

Our Mission

To work as a network of agencies to substantially increase the hiring of individuals with barriers to employment by connecting qualified applicants with the employers who need them

What is BACED?

BACED is the Bay Area Coalition for Employment Development. We are a continually growing network of nonprofit organizations dedicated to increasing competitive employment for individuals in our community.

Established in August of 1985, BACED agencies have successfully placed thousands of qualified applicants. BACED agencies represent over 1000 Bay Area employers and annually place more than 1,500 qualified candidates into competitive employment. These employees are working successfully in a broad spectrum of professional and non-professional jobs ranging from entry level to senior positions.

Goals and Objectives

- To assist employers by serving as a resource for information concerning employment.
- To promote increased diversified employment, on a year-round basis, of individuals with barriers, as well as the retention and advancement of those already employed.
- To be a resource to job seekers with barriers to employment.
- To serve as a support system for other Job Development professionals within the group.
- To provide advancement training/continuing education to group members to ensure professional growth.
